DECLARATION OF JENNIFER SCULLION IN SUPPORT OF MOTION FOR AWARD OF EXPENSES AND FEES

I, JENNIFER R. SCULLION, declare:

1. I am a partner at Proskauer Rose LLP. Proskauer has been co-counsel to the eight classes in these lawsuits since the fall of 2006. Unless otherwise indicated, I make this declaration based on personal knowledge. In making this declaration, I am not waiving and am not authorized to waive any attorney-client or other applicable privilege or the protections of the work product doctrine.

2. As co-lead counsel, Proskauer led or assisted in all aspects of the litigations, including: motions for preliminary injunctions and attachment; motions for summary judgment; motions for entry of revised judgments; motions to modify the class definition; acceleration of the bonds; motions to address Argentina's exchange offer; motions addressed to Argentina's 2016 public offer and request to vacate the pari passu injunctions; propounding and responding to discovery requests; fact and expert witness depositions; identification of opt outs; preparation of multiple expert reports concerning class size and damages; legal and factual research concerning enforcement of judgments; at least ten appearances before this Court in these cases and multiple appearances and attendance at hearings in parallel cases, such as NML; defense of three appeals before the Second Circuit; multiple rounds of settlement negotiations with Argentina; motions for preliminary approval of class settlements; and detailed oversight and administration of process for notice of class settlements and review of class settlement claims.

3. As reflected by the docket and in time and other records, the work of Proskauer and other class counsel on these eight cases included:

- Identifying and meeting with potential class representatives in Argentina;
- Drafting the initial and amended Class Complaints in eight cases;

- Moving for and obtaining class certification in all eight cases over Argentina's opposition (affirmed on appeal);
- Moving for and obtaining Temporary Restraining Order and Preliminary Injunctions over Argentina's opposition (vacated as moot on appeal);
- Moving for Turn Over of property;
- Filings addressed to Argentina's 2010 Exchange Offer;
- Obtaining Restraining and Garnishing Notices on multiple entities (later vacated);
- Propounding and responding to written discovery, including collecting and producing client documents;
- Subpoenaing third party discovery from institutions such as the Depository Trust Company;
- Preparing and defending fact witnesses in eleven depositions;
- Preparing multiple expert reports on continuous holder and damages issues;
- Preparing and defending expert witnesses in deposition;
- Twice moving for and obtaining summary judgment and judgments from this Court in all eight cases over Argentina's opposition (remanded on appeal for additional findings);
- Moving to accelerate the class bonds over Argentina's opposition (affirmed on appeal);
- Moving to modify the class definitions over Argentina's opposition (reversed on appeal as in excess of mandate);
- Briefing and argument before the Second Circuit in four separate appeals, three taken by Argentina;
- Preparing and disseminating class notice and administering opt out process;

- Preparing and disseminating Request for Proof of Claims and administering Proof of Claim process;
- Briefing and arguing before this Court on multiple occasions concerning extension of the pari passu injunctions to the eight classes and in opposition to Argentina's request to vacate the pari passu injunctions;
- Negotiating and drafting the Settlement Agreement and Motion for Preliminary Approval;
- Preparing Notice and Summary Notice of Settlement and working with administrator (Gilardi & Co.) to disseminate the notices of settlement;
- Detailed review of Settlement Claim Forms and supporting materials, including innumerable telephone conferences and emails with individual claimants and class action services.

4. The schedule attached as Exhibit A is a summary of the hours Proskauer is submitting in support of an award of fees. The summary sets forth the hours and rates for each lawyer or law clerk individually, as well as a total of the hours and resulting fees for paralegals, research librarians, managing clerks, and litigation technology professionals. The rates reflected in the summary are the rates that were in effect for such work at the time the work was performed and at the rates that were or are charged in the ordinary course of its business for non-contingency matters.

5. Exhibit A was prepared from contemporaneous time records regularly maintained by Proskauer. The detailed time records that form the basis for Exhibit A are available at the Court's request.

6. Time spent preparing this application for fees and expenses has not been included in Exhibit A.

7. Proskauer has represented the eight classes in this matter purely on a contingent basis and has not received any compensation from any class representative or any other individual or entity for any of the time it has spent on these cases over more than ten years.

8. The total number of hours spent by Proskauer lawyers and other professionals on these cases from October 11, 2006 through September 30, 2016 is 6,714. The “lodestar” (total fees incurred), based on rates at the time the hours were spent, is $3,595,250.00.

9. The lodestar does not include expenses, which are billed separately.

10. Exhibit A also includes a summary of the expenses Proskauer has incurred on these cases through September 30, 2016 for which it is seeking reimbursement. The total of the expenses for which Proskauer is seeking reimbursement is $536,904.62. The costs include expenses for expert witnesses, transcripts, publication and distribution of class notice, computerized research, court filings, duplication of documents, local and international travel, and other incidental expenses typical of complex litigation. The expenses are reflected in the books and records of the firm and are prepared from expense records, accounts payable records, and other materials in the ordinary course of business. The detailed expense records that form the basis for Exhibit A are available at the Court’s request.

11. Attached as Exhibit B is a summary of Proskauer’s litigation capabilities.

12. Attached as Exhibit C are excerpts from recent fee applications in bankruptcy proceedings reflecting current market rates charged by other New York business litigation firms that have litigated these and similar cases, namely Cleary, Gottlieb, Steen & Hamilton LLP (counsel to the Republic of Argentina), Cravath, Swaine & Moore LLP (counsel to the Republic of Argentina), and Gibson, Dunn & Crutcher (counsel to NML).

I declare under penalty of perjury that the foregoing is true and correct.

Executed on October 3, 2016

- > Our Clients: Our clients include many of the world's top companies, financial institutions, investment funds, not-for-profit institutions, governmental entities and other organizations across industries and borders. We also represent individuals in transactions and other matters.
- > Our Offices: In addition to our New York headquarters, we have offices in Los Angeles, Boston, Chicago, Washington, D.C., London, Paris, Hong Kong, Beijing, São Paulo, New Orleans, Newark and Boca Raton.
- > Devoted Client Service: Devotion to clients is a Proskauer hallmark. Our lawyers are known for their unusually high accessibility, responsiveness and attentiveness. They go the extra mile to understand a client's business — and think like businesspeople in the process. Legal consultant BTI Consulting Group named Proskauer to its 2013 Innovation Honor Roll, an elite group of law firms recognized by clients for creatively driving outstanding client service delivery and performance.
- > Premier Litigation Department: Described as a "litigation" powerhouse by Crain's New York Business, Proskauer's Litigation Department is comprised of approximately 200 lawyers who work across the firm's 13 offices representing defendant and plaintiffs, multinationals, middle market and small-cap businesses, financial institutions, not-for-profits, partnerships and individuals. Our litigations are foremost trial lawyers who have extensive experience in virtually every forum, from state and federal courts to domestic and international arbitrations and from alternative dispute resolution proceedings to administrator regulatory tribunals. We bring a tactical approach when resolving each case based on our client's needs and circumstances in order to achieve the best possible results, either during hearing and trials, or through the appeals process.

"Bulletproof in terms of the advice they give – they are very commercial and proactive people. I get business and tactical advice in addition to legal advice."

—Chambers Global 2014

Class & Collective Actions

Companies of all types continue to fall prey to employees seeking collective or class redress for a variety of alleged wrongdoings, among them discrimination, wage and hour, glass ceiling and other pay disparity matters. We help many of the world's largest and most well-known employers proactively defend against these suits and expedite their resolution aggressively and efficiently, bringing to bear the resources of one of the most formidable and sophisticated employment litigation groups practicing today. The members of our Class & Collective Actions Group are well versed in both the defense and successful resolution of class actions and have experience in all phases of related litigation, including bench and jury trials. We have strength in wage and hour class actions and have successfully defended companies in class and collective actions filed by employees for alleged unpaid overtime pay, misclassifications, record-keeping obligations, unpaid meal breaks and personal sick pay as well as large lawsuits brought by state and federal labor departments and other government agencies. We also have deep experience representing employers in pattern and practice investigations and litigation by the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC) relating to alleged discrimination, harassment and retaliation on the basis of race, religion, sex, national origin, disability and age.

However, the courtroom is not the only place where we successfully defend against class and collective actions. Our lawyers are also highly adept at developing creative strategies for defeating class certification on a procedural level, whether by directly addressing the specific claims of named plaintiffs or confronting the class head on. We are also experienced in mediating settlements and at evaluating – and minimizing – damage exposure.

Our history of success has led US Legal 500 to commend us for our strength in defending class actions and Chambers USA to praise our "litigation expertise in both discrimination and sexual harassment cases." Chambers USA further distinguished our Labor & Employment practice by selecting us a top tier practice nationwide in 2014 as well as the winner of its prestigious 2012 "Award for Excellence." In addition, members of our class and collective action practice are frequently recognized for their distinction in this area.

We were also recently honored as one of the top three firms nationwide for Labor & Employment Litigation by The American Lawyer, where it was noted that clients retain Proskauer when "the company's reputation is on the line" and "managing the public face of litigation" is of utmost importance. Indeed, our high-profile matters involve sensitive, complex situations with sweeping ramifications that impact both our clients and their industries.

Our Approach

We believe that defendants – especially corporate defendants – should view cases as business matters, not merely as legal problems, and should focus from the start on high-level strategic considerations, instead of step-by-step motion practice. In keeping with this philosophy, we believe that "success" is measured not by whether we as lawyers can achieve a legal victory, but by whether our client obtains an outcome that best promotes its business and operational goals and enables it to get back to work.

To promote strategic thinking, we work with experts to conduct economic analyses at the beginning of every case so that we and our clients can identify issues that might ultimately dispose of the litigation or drive settlement values, even if those issues might not be useful or determinative at the pleading stage.

Defense of Class Actions and Derivative Suits

We have decades of experience representing clients in shareholder class actions and derivative actions, contested tender offers, contests for corporate control, and "going-private" and proxy fight litigation. We represent Fortune 500 companies and other issuers, corporate executives, boards of directors, underwriters, and others in class actions and derivative actions alleging securities fraud, breaches of fiduciary duties, and related claims, including one of the few major Rule 10b-5 cases to have gone to verdict. The trial experience of our securities litigators gives our clients a strategic advantage in the courtroom and at the negotiating table.

Our team is highly skilled in handling accounting and auditing issues. A number of our securities litigators are recognized practitioners who also lecture, teach and write in the field of forensic accounting and auditing.

SEC, SRO and State Enforcement

We are experienced in the defense of SEC investigations and enforcement proceedings brought under federal securities laws and are well known for actively defending companies, their boards of directors, senior executive officers, lawyers and others in high-profile SEC matters. The issues our litigators address include every aspect of securities regulation. Currently these matters include, among others, insider trading, breaches of fiduciary and contractual duties, options backdating, financial fraud, hedge fund trading, related party transactions, bond trading, performance fees of money managers, soft dollar issues, stock manipulation and cash settled swap agreements.

We also are experienced in litigation and enforcement matters brought by the Commodity Futures Trading Commission against futures commission merchants, commodity pool operators and commodity trading advisors. In addition, we represent regulated entities and individuals before self-regulatory organizations including the New York Stock Exchange and FINRA, and we routinely handle multiple investigations or "parallel proceedings" undertaken at the same time by the SEC, DOJ and FINRA. We also represent clients in connection with state regulatory and enforcement matters brought by entities including the office of the New York State Attorney General and state regulatory bodies around the country.

Our group has represented clients in Congressional inquiries into sensitive securities industry issues and corporate scandal cases. On behalf of international clients in various industries, we are experienced in SEC and DOJ investigations of Foreign Corrupt Practices Act violations, both for foreign payments and violations of internal accounting controls.

Internal Investigations for Securities Issues

When potential misconduct is alleged or suspected, clients call upon us to conduct swift, thorough internal investigations as part of the first steps in defending SEC, DOJ and other investigations. In handling these investigations, our lawyers are ever mindful of potential collateral consequences. We counsel clients on handling sensitive information and take steps to resolve issues discreetly. Furthermore, we work with clients to provide closure with any involved government regulators.

For example, in a recent internal investigation, our client was a special committee of a large, multinational public company facing shareholder derivative actions, shareholder demands and other proceedings related to a recent acquisition. Reporting to the special committee, we conducted a complete internal review of pending and potential claims related to the acquisition. This investigation involved numerous interviews and teams of lawyers focused on investigating different aspects of the allegations.

White-Collar Criminal Defense of Securities Matters

Our lawyers are experienced in the defense of criminal securities-related charges brought by the DOJ and state criminal authorities. If the case should go to trial, clients can count on the experience of our group's members, many of who have tried highly complex criminal securities cases as well as argued numerous cases on appeal.

Securities Industry Back Office Defense

Through our leading practice in defending back office matters, we leverage a deep understanding of the clearance, settlement and transfer processes. Our nationally recognized work includes matters involving major Wall Street introducing and clearing firms, such as The Depository Trust & Clearing Corporation and its subsidiaries, which are responsible for clearing and settling the nation's securities transactions.

For example, recently we successfully defended DTCC in litigation around the United States against claims that its systems facilitate naked short selling. Cases have been dismissed on grounds of federal preemption and otherwise withdrawn in the face of our motions to dismiss.
